Melbourne Square Precinct.

Introducing the next evolution of Melbourne Square, where the significance of open space, fresh air, and the freedom to roam has been meticulously considered within a holistic design that prioritises wellness and fosters a sense of community.

Melbourne Square Precinct.

Paul Curry, Director - COX Architecture.

Creating any lasting legacy is ambitious, but four years ago, a vision for Melbourne Square emerged to do just that. A place enhanced by the cultural Arts Precinct and iconic city venues around it, and a place that enriches life for those within it, creating a true Melbourne community amidst thriving gardens, parks and genuine amenity. With the successful completion of Stage 1, Melbourne Square is today the largest consolidated site in Southbank.

Now, we present the next evolution, BLVD. The tallest building currently planned on site that extends the language of landscape and surrounding nature. With gently rounded corners and curved glazing, the tower rises to the sky with a softness in its architecture and elegance in design. Below it, the podium displays a fine degree of materiality and focus on articulation from the ground level.

A sculptural gateway to Melbourne, and a new legacy for Melbourne Square.

Life On The Boulevard.

On the tree-shaded pavements of Hoff Boulevard the waft of roasting beans and freshly brewed coffee signposts the heart and soul of Melbourne Square. It's here that the grand vision of the Melbourne Square masterplan, designed by COX Architecture, comes to life. The everyday convenience of cafés, retail stores and Victoria's largest double storey Woolworths is the vital element of a thriving, established community.

Artist's Impression.

Melbourne Square Precinct.

1. Kennedy Park.

Melbourne Square can offer a place to picnic on your very own lawn. A place to relax in the shade, bask in the sunshine and smell the sweet scent of the sub-tropics in gardens bursting with the botanical bounty of native and exotic plants. Kennedy Park's 3745m² of green goodness holds the secret to a life of wellness, infused by the nurturing hand of nature.

2. Nido Early School.

The first five years of a child's life shape their journey into adulthood, making every single day count in reaching their full potential. Nido Early School at Melbourne Square embraces the Reggio Emilia philosophy of early education and care, providing an environment that encourages exploration and creativity, a love of nature and respect for each other.

3. Woolworths Southbank.

The arrival of Woolworths Southbank ushered in a new era in supermarket convenience and community values. With its doors open from 7am until midnight, the first and largest double storey Woolworths supermarket in Victoria enables sustainable low waste consumption. Product lines and hours tailored to the busy active lives of those who live at Melbourne Square, make the everyday that little bit easier.

4. Retail Convenience.

Food is a universal language that knows no borders; it's written in the international flavour of Melbourne Square's retail strip where you can dine local on the comfort foods of home. For a quick bite on the run, an extended business lunch or a laidback Sunday breakfast, Hoff Boulevard is open and you're welcome. Home cooks and entertainers are spoiled for choice with access to specialty Asian stores.

Melbourne's Most Livable Parkside Precinct.

Across the span of a lifetime, every moment is precious. Melbourne Square presents a way to experience life to the full, to cherish the ordinary and the extraordinary, combining urban convenience with a connection to people and place in the city's most livable parkside precinct.

Melbourne's Most Vibrant Precinct.

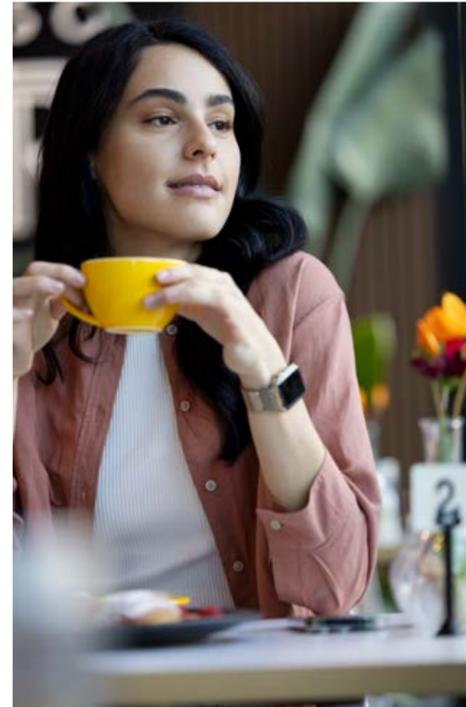

Melbourne Square offers a city address unrivalled for the breadth of its amenity and sense of community. Already with a full-line Woolworths supermarket and childcare centre, the precinct will continue to take shape as the only Southbank development with an expansive 3,745m² park (Kennedy Park), boasting established gardens, a waterfall and leafy grounds.

The Changing Face of Southbank.

The rich cultural energy of Southbank shines through its internationally-renowned Arts Precinct, where Melbourne's most progressive, acclaimed and dynamic galleries, theatres, performances and exhibitions are on show year round.

Set to grow as the exciting Arts Precinct redevelopment evolves, Melbourne Square residents are perfectly placed within the heart of a globally recognised cultural centre.

Beyond, Melbourne's celebrated attractions are moments away, from Melbourne's top fashion boutiques to the Royal Botanic Gardens, major sporting venues and Crown Casino. Southbank's proximity to the best of the city positions it at the heart of a true international destination.

Royal Botanic Gardens.

Connecting with Kings Domain and Alexandra Gardens, Melbourne's expansive Royal Botanic Gardens offer green respite and tranquil parklands within walking distance.

Melbourne Sporting Precinct.

Melbourne Square is close to Australia's most significant sporting hub, featuring world-class sporting grounds including the MCG, Melbourne and Olympic Parks, and AAMI Park.

Melbourne Fashion Boutiques.

Only a short walk or tram ride away, the city's most iconic boutiques and high-end shopping include the Paris end of Collins Street and the Crown Casino stores, offering world-class shopping.

Crown Casino Entertainment Complex.

A world of entertainment, the Crown complex showcases the city's best dining, shopping, accommodation, casino and nightlife, in a true international lifestyle destination.

Southbank Boulevard.

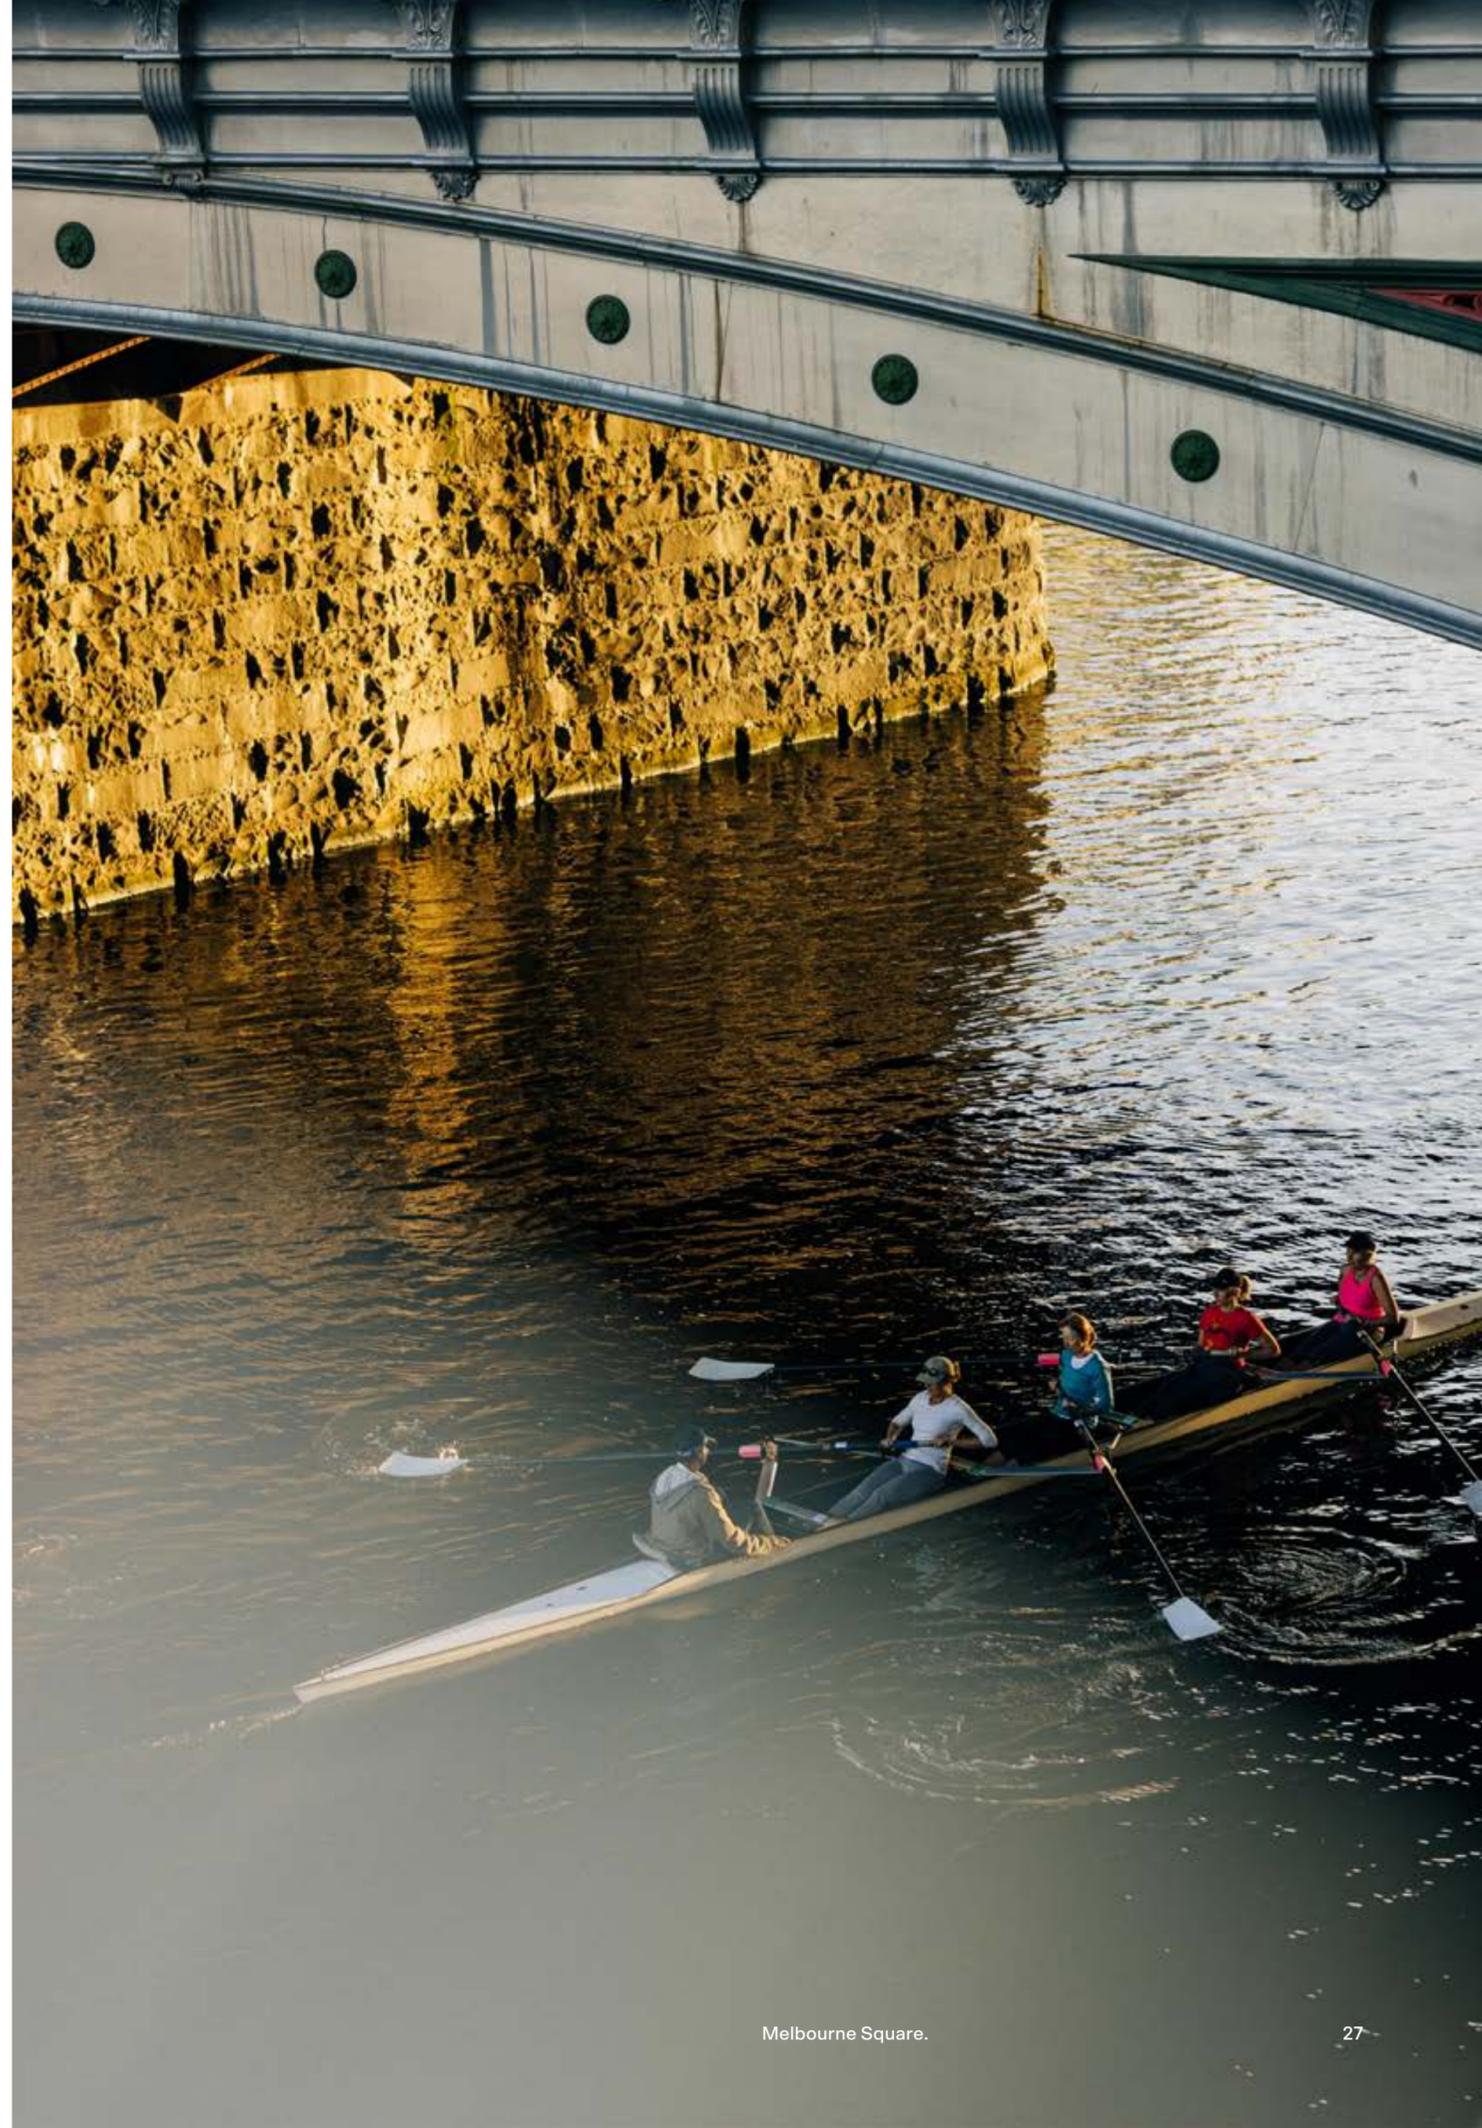

Melbourne Square is positioned within Southbank, an inner-city enclave internationally known for its sophisticated dining and entertainment by the banks of the Yarra River.

Education.

From historic campuses to cutting-edge laboratories, the city is home to world class institutions at every level. Melbourne is renowned globally for its education excellence.

All of Melbourne's most celebrated lifestyle attractions are at Southbank, a true international destination of global repute.

Melbourne's Premier Address.

Melbourne Square stands at the southern gateway to the Melbourne CBD and forms a portal to the city's most revered cultural, sporting and educational institutions. The urban pleasures of fine dining are within easy reach while a gentle walk will deliver you to centuries-old parks and gardens that form a green perimeter to Melbourne Square.

Melbourne's reputation as Australia's cultural hub is set to expand with a $1.7 billion government investment in the Melbourne Arts Precinct Transformation. This project, spanning from Southbank to Fed Square, includes upgraded performance spaces, a contemporary art gallery, and extensive gardens with dining, bars, creative zones and public art.

The City's Cultural Heart.

If a city's creativity defines its character, the true identity of Melbourne resides at Southbank. Here on the southern shore of the Yarra River, Melbourne's great art institutions are assembled – the National Gallery of Victoria, Australian Ballet, Melbourne Symphony Orchestra. Performance spaces worthy of the world's best touring artists merge into a dining precinct that elevates the culinary arts.

A Sense Of Arrival.

The BLVD lobby sets the stage for an elevated living experience. With honey-toned limestone, welcoming seating areas, and a soothing ribbon fireplace, it exudes the grandeur of a hotel lobby, offering timeless tranquility. A dedicated concierge further enhances the lifestyle, providing residents with convenience and personalised assistance for a well-ordered life.

No. 3

“The sense of arrival begins on the boulevard; a feeling of being connected to nature that continues in the entry lobby where limestone walls and natural light accentuate the spacious volumes.”

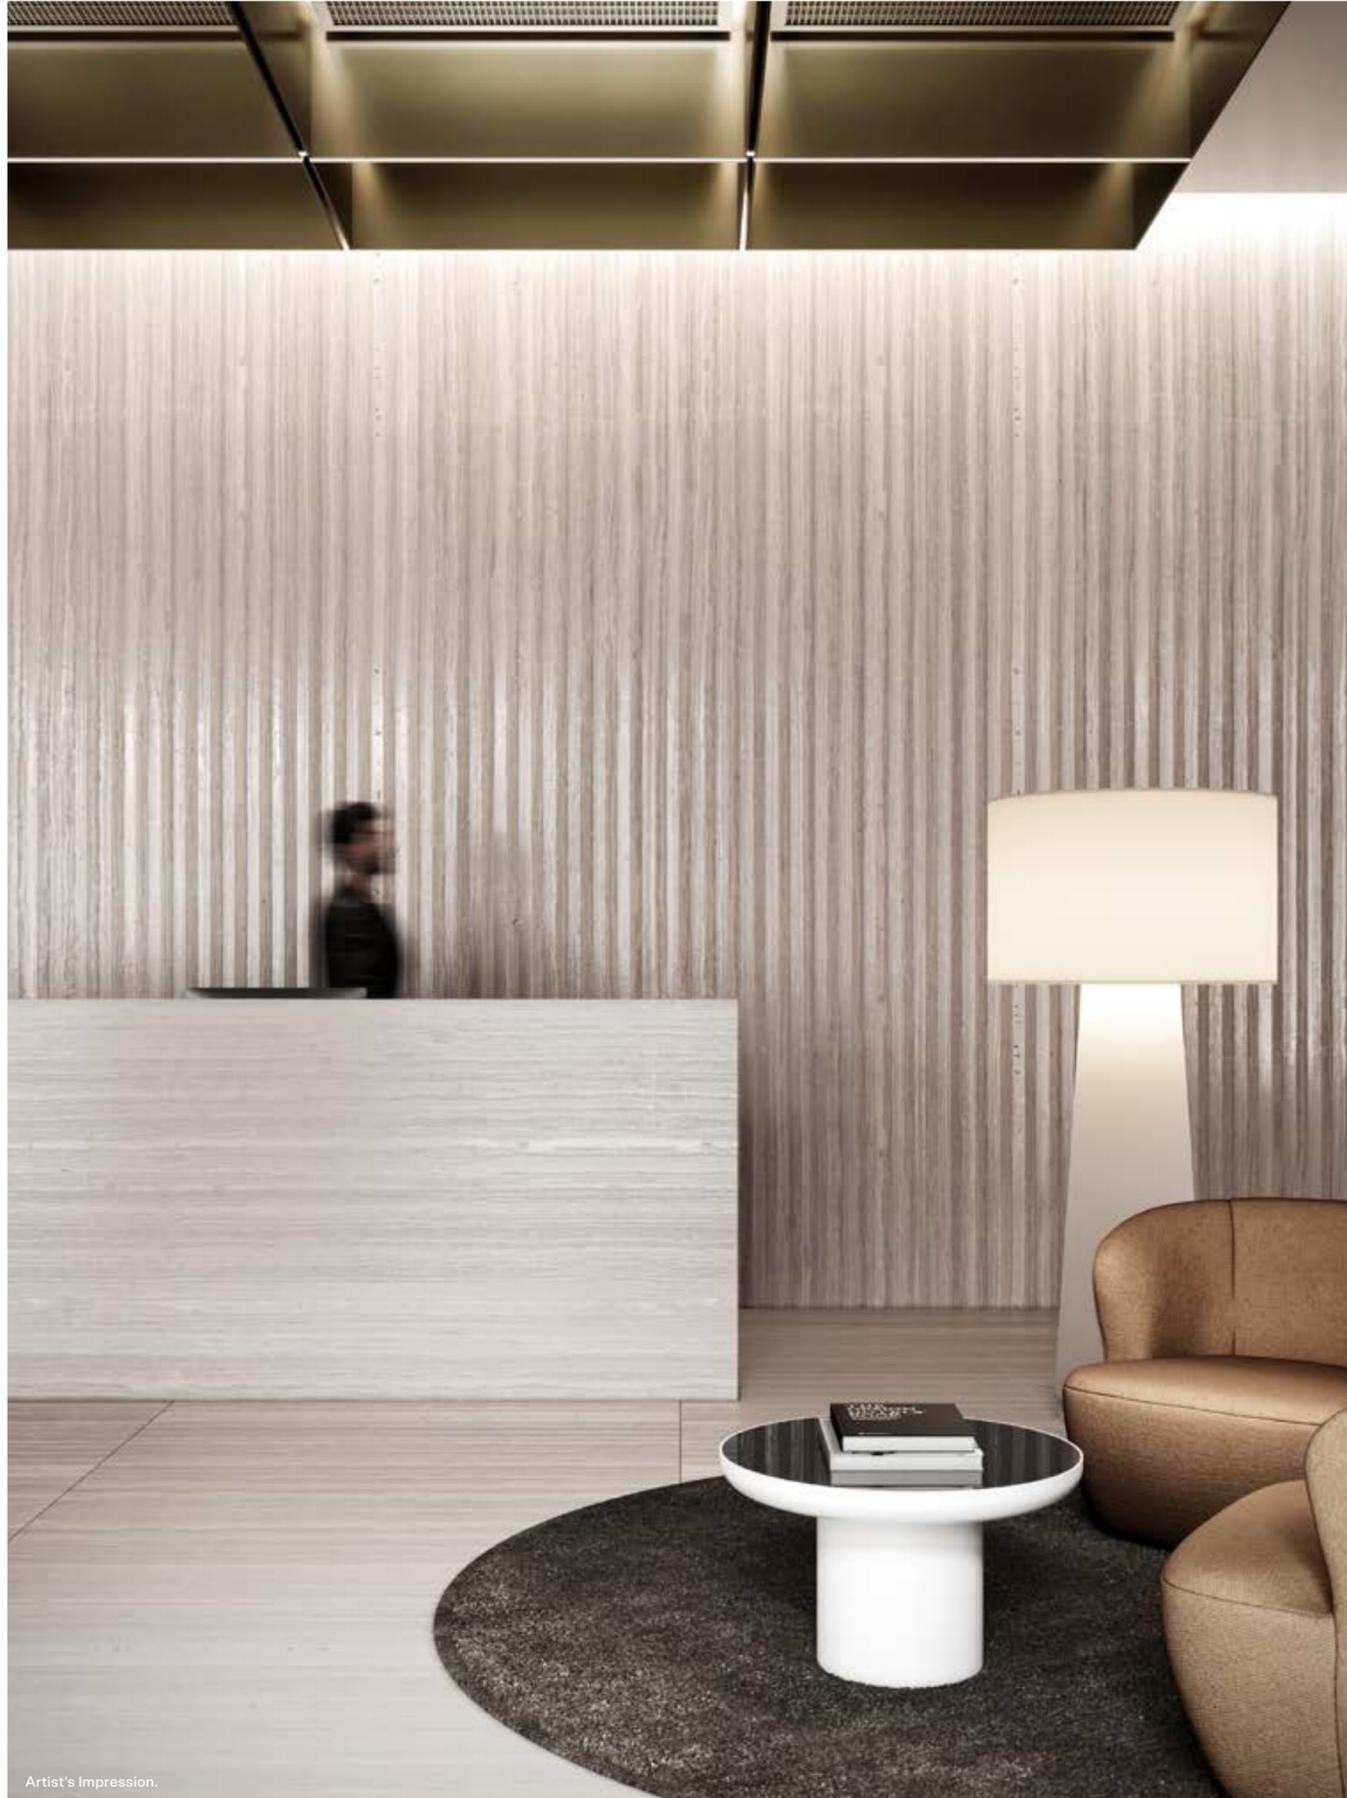

Artist's Impression.

You Have Arrived.

The elevated living experience begins in the BLVD lobby where a restrained palette of honey-toned limestone, clusters of seating and the flickering flame of a ribbon fireplace invite you to linger and relax in the warm welcome of home. Reminiscent of a hotel lobby in the grandeur of its proportion and scale, there is a sense of calm in the singularity of materials chosen for their natural, timeless beauty.

Artist's Impression.

Artist's Impression.

“The foyer boasts five-metre ceilings, a hotel lounge ambience, and a focus on fostering community. Consistent palettes and natural materials create a warm, nurturing atmosphere, emphasising comfort and neighbourly relationships.”

Your Dedicated Concierge.

Taking delivery of your parcels, groceries and dry cleaning are just a few of the perks of a dedicated concierge stationed in the lobby. Think personal assistant to organise car share hire, book a room in the amenity spaces for that special occasion and help navigate the BLVD App. For busy people with schedules to manage, a concierge is the link to a well-ordered life.

Wellness Amenities.

Maintaining our wellbeing is crucial for leading fulfilling lives, and the team behind BLVD recognises the significance of this by weaving wellness into its design and philosophy.

Supported by Carr's carefully crafted palette, the spaces are conducive to fostering productivity, cultivating meaningful relationships, and embracing a healthy lifestyle that transcends the boundaries of your home.

TOWN

Jack Noonan, Vice President, Asia Pacific International WELL Building Institute.

We know that great spaces prioritise and improve health by helping fuel our bodies, keeping us connected, inspiring our best work and facilitating a good night's sleep. We also know that our buildings must respond better to create places that feel healthier, happier and deliver more sustainable outcomes.

This is why BLVD is one of the first residential projects in Australia registered to pursue WELL Certification. OSK Property has applied this world-leading framework from the ground up with a holistic suite of integrated solutions, including optimised access to natural light, great thermal comfort and indoor air quality, through to social, fitness and mental wellbeing amenities.

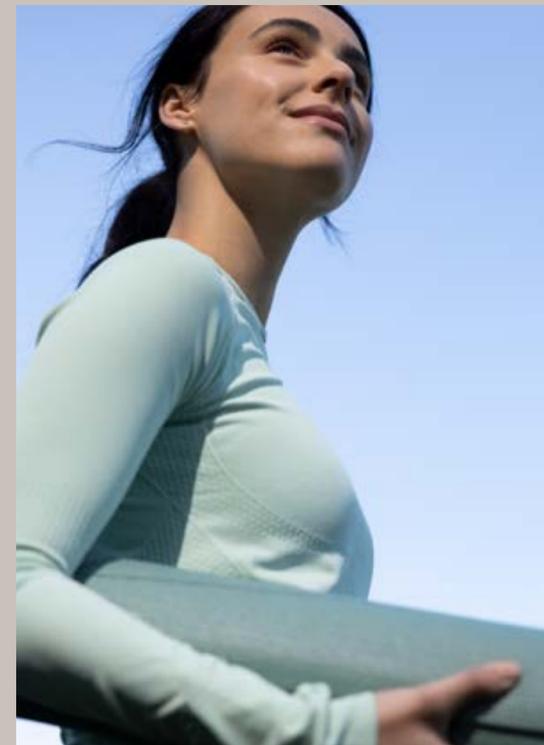

BLVD's amenity spaces prioritises social connection along with indoor and outdoor spaces for building mental and physical fitness. Wellness is woven holistically into the public and private realm to support residents to live, eat and sleep well to enjoy a healthy, balanced and happy life.

Podium & Terrace Gardens.

Immersive and layered gardens are woven into shared entertainment spaces and lounging areas so that residents reap the biophilia benefit. Inspired by the native plantings of the gardens that dominate views from the tower, the green landscapes within BLVD bring nature up close and personal, offering an uplifting multi-sensory experience.

An Established Community.

Melbourne Square is no longer a community in the making but a neighbourhood with well-established networks and clubs, bringing together people with shared passions and interests. Opportunities for serendipitous connections abound – at the supermarket, in the coffee queue, walking the dog – and the first residents of Melbourne Square have formed groups and clubs where like-minded neighbours are welcome.

Open Air Environments.

Melbourne Square is surrounded by an abundance of green space to tempt you outdoors. Right on the doorstep, Kennedy Park offers established gardens and lawn to stroll, play and simply enjoy the beauty of nature. Boyd Park, next to Melbourne Square, boasts a village green and active spaces for outdoor play. A new park planned for the Australian Centre for Contemporary Art forecourt will further add to the green grid and provide a local dog park.

Chris McCue, Managing Director - Carr.

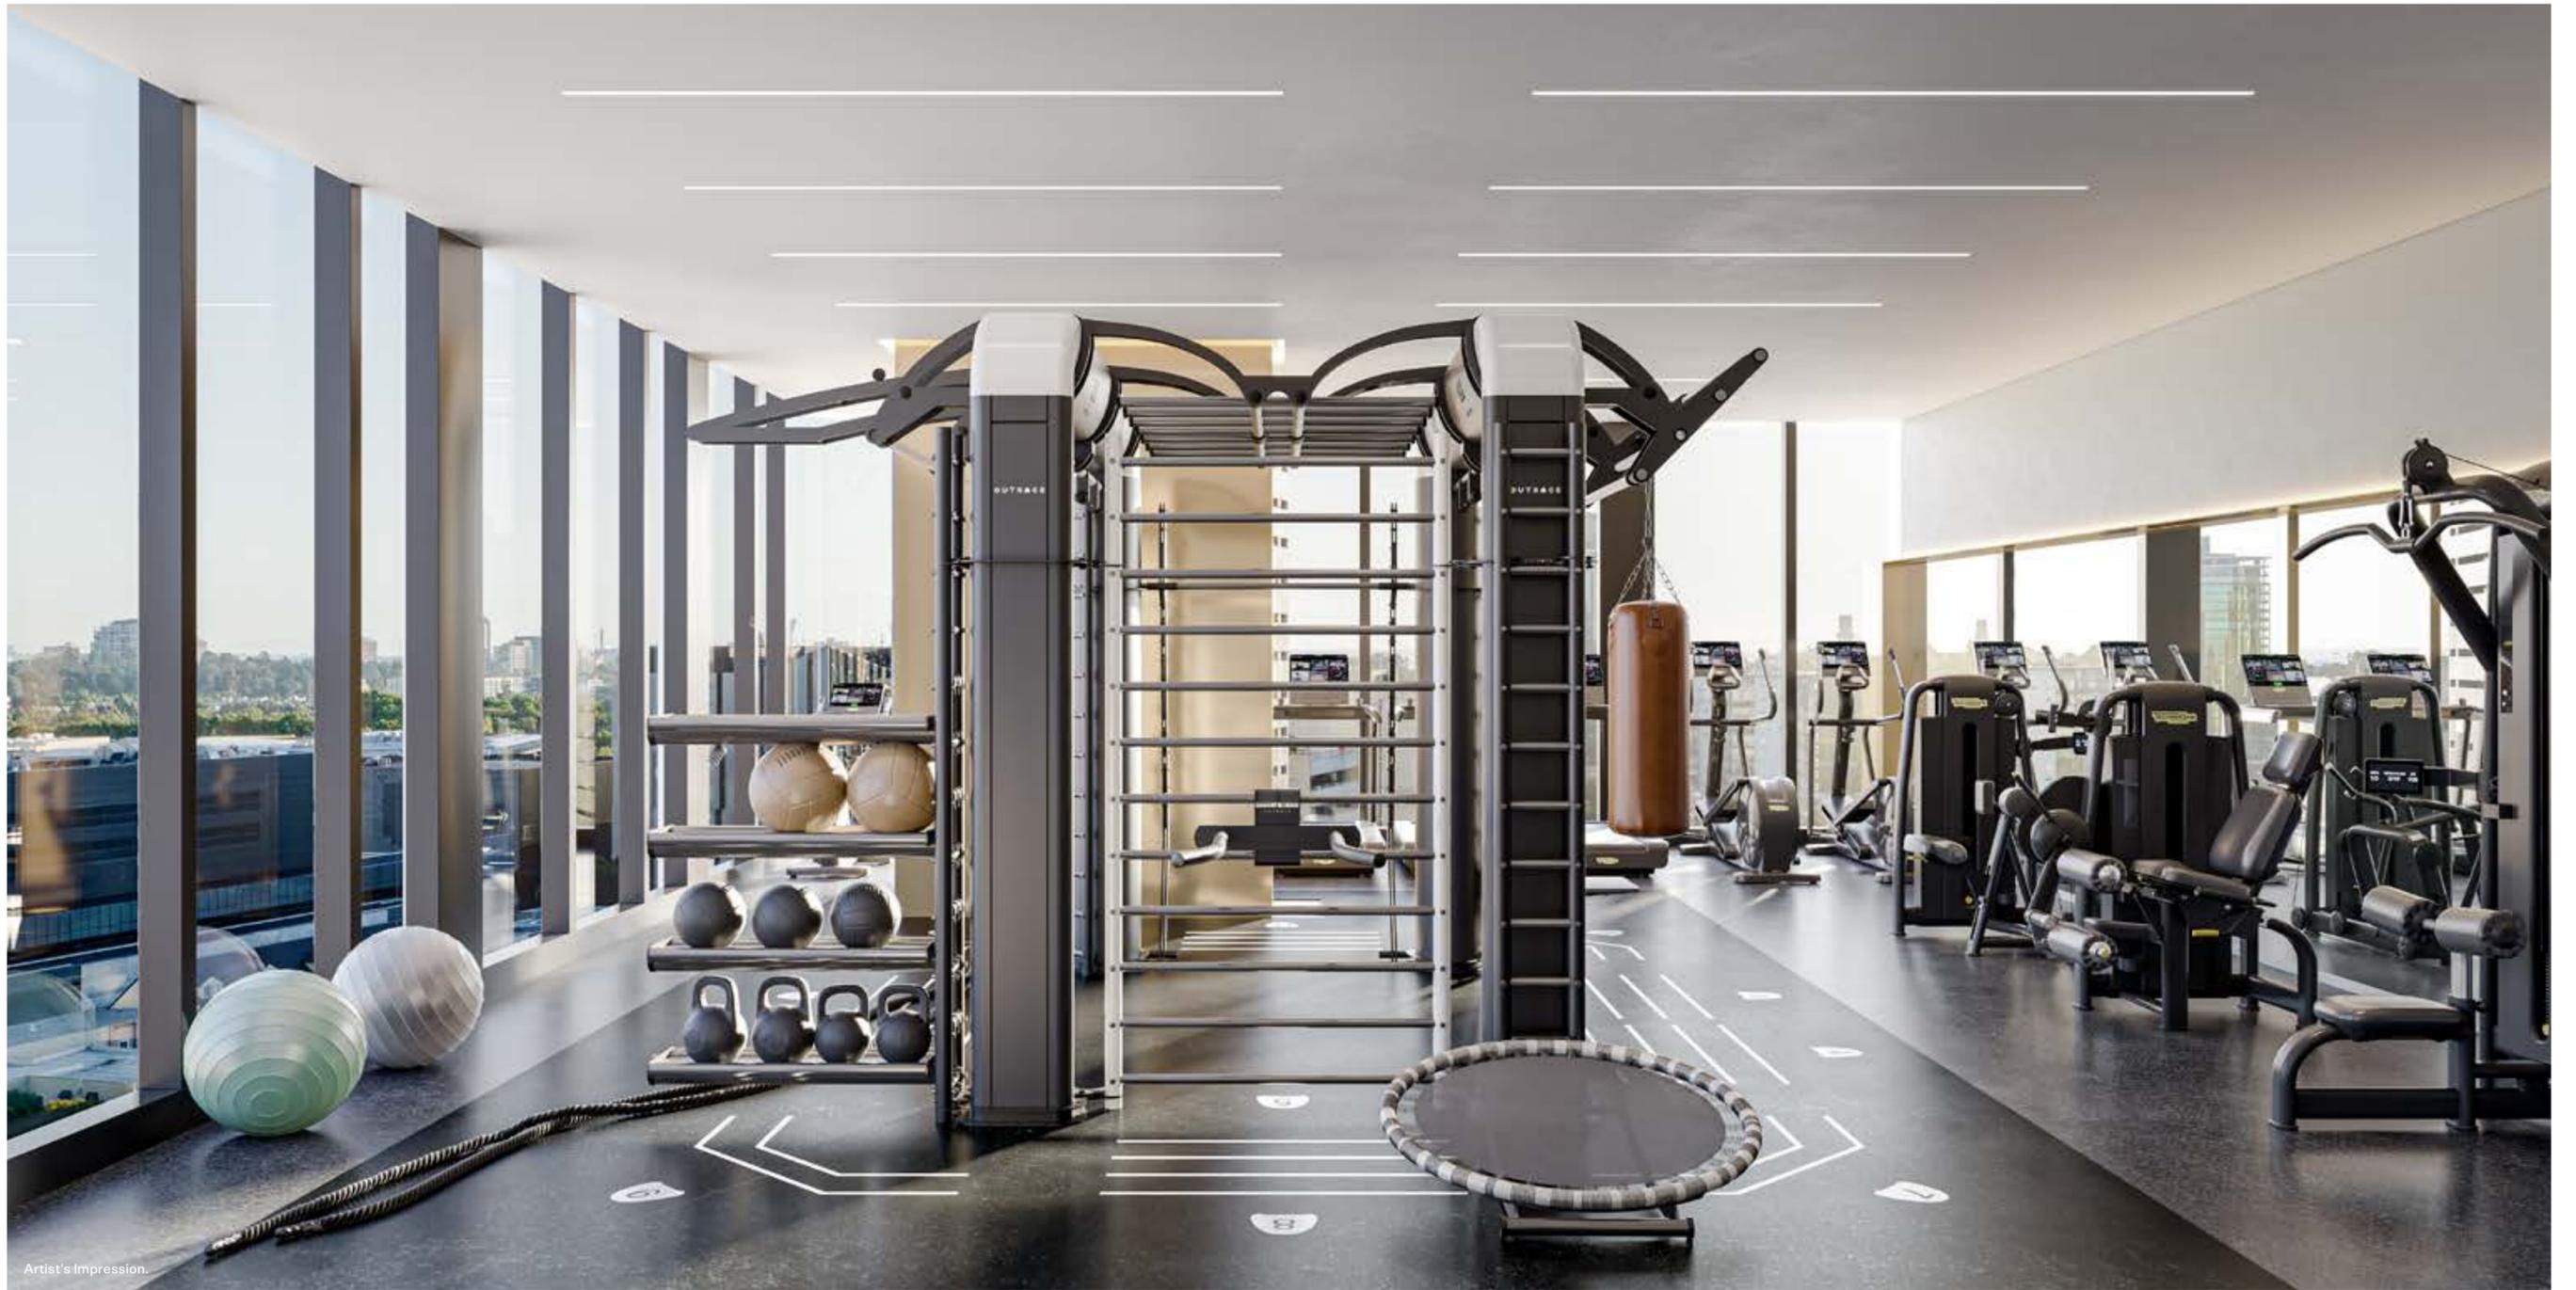

“The criticality of beautifully designed and fully resolved spaces became more important as we focus upon personal wellbeing, elevating the human experience through calm and nurturing environments.”

The Podium Club - Wellness Amenity.

Healthy living is elevated to an artform in the Podium Club, combining the many elements that nourish mind, body and spirit. Holistic in conception, health-affirming in execution, there is a diversity of spaces for active and reflective engagement to achieve a balanced you. Here you can swim, spin, stretch and flex in surroundings that are equal part inspiration and aspiration.

Lucas Dean, Senior Associate - TCL.

The best buildings of today tap into the remarkable ability of plants to produce cleaner, healthier air, storing carbon and releasing oxygen and water. By bringing nature indoors and connecting living spaces to green outdoor environments, the benefits of nature's own air filter extend beyond the mere aesthetic. The integration of landscaping into shared spaces and the façade of BLVD, creates a healthier home where nature's grand design is woven beautifully and artfully into the architecture.

Entertainment & Convenience.

With the ambience of a discreet private club, Level 55 offers a lounge and dining experience with views on par with Melbourne's finest restaurants. Rivalling the outlook are interior spaces that exude quiet luxury and refined elegance.

Exclusive Level 55 Skye Club.

Far above the botanical beauty of the gardens below and the magical light show that is Melbourne by night, the Skye Club transports Premium Apartment residents to a world of exclusive luxury. A private lounge offers a window to the magnificent panorama of the city; elevated, elegant and quietly luxurious. The cocktail bar lends an air of hotel hospitality, a convivial invitation to entertain, celebrate and live the moment. Adjoining the private dining room, where 14 guests can dine in comfort, a caterer's kitchen adds to the pleasure of hosting at home. The palette is warm, the mood refined, the feeling truly splendid.

Level 55 Horizon Dining.

There are few pleasures greater than sharing a table with friends and family in a setting where the view is as inspiring as the company. Horizon Dining affords all residents a richly furnished space in which to entertain, celebrate or seal a crucial business deal, with an adjoining kitchen discreetly screened from view. The less-is-more palette of materials layers marble, metallics, timber and glass in achromatic harmony. Leather chairs rest upon a hand-tufted woollen rug, a study in textural contrast and artisan craftsmanship. On the near horizon, the MCG commands attention, a Melbourne icon framed for exclusive private viewing.

The Residences.

Chris McCue, Managing Director - Carr.

This is truly a living and breathing building. We drew deeply on the rich natural landscapes of the surrounding precinct, which are woven through the building's generous amenities through the material palette and quality fittings. From the gently lit, articulated lobby to the double-height views on the 55th floor, each interior connects immediately to the bay and garden views, offering a sense of scale and freedom.

The residences capture beautifully restrained and timeless interior architecture. Continuing the same reductionist ideology and palette, nature shines through warm, tonal materials and subtle, textured finishes. Together, they create a calm environment for you to make your own and live your way. Perfectly attuned with a design that elevates the senses, we feel very privileged to carve new spaces for the next generation.

Domain Residences.

Enter a realm of understated refinement, where every finish, every fixture, whispers luxury and quality. Spacious two and three bedroom residences on the upper reaches of BLVD unfold against breathtaking views of the bay and gardens. Tactile and tonal, natural materials are layered with masterful precision in two colour palettes with integrated joinery and premium Gaggenau appliances included.

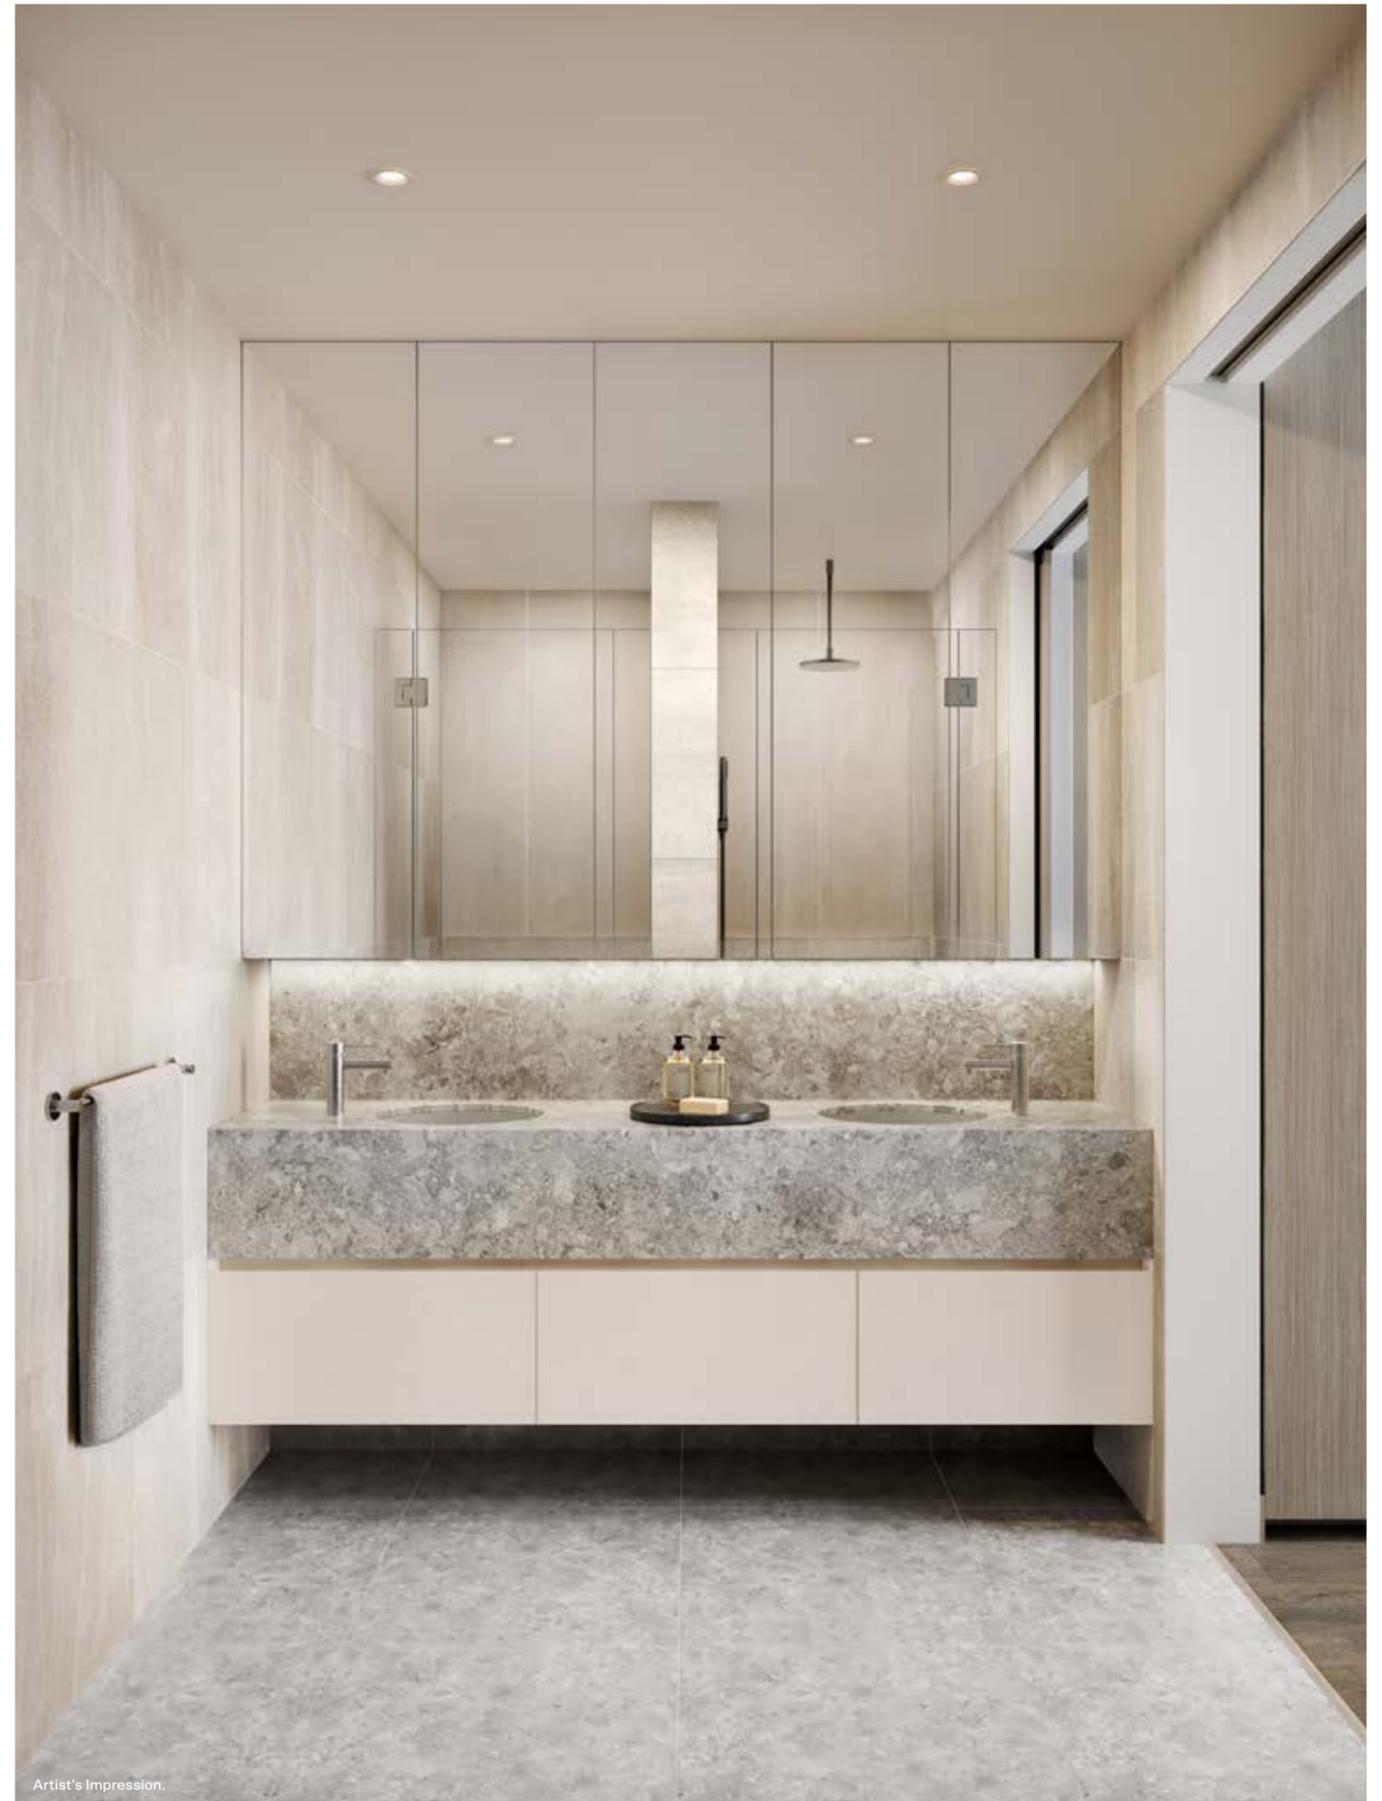

Artist's Impression.

Carr's signature aesthetic of understated elegance is evident in every aspect of the living spaces at BLVD, from the kitchen and bathrooms to the living areas. Each material is carefully selected creating a soothing visual experience that celebrates fluidity and tactility.

The Coastal Scheme.

Timeless in its simplicity, versatile in its neutrality, the Coastal Scheme pairs soft grey natural stone with warm, light timber veneer joinery anchored by timber and wool carpet flooring options. The colour palette takes its inspiration from the wash of water against fine sand and craggy rock, muted yet powerful in the movement and veining of natural materials.

Artist's Impression.

The ever-evolving panorama of bay and lake vistas, observed from BLVD's south-west vantage point, offers an uninterrupted spectacle influenced by the ever-changing elements. It enchants with serene tranquility on clear azure days, captivating with its breathtaking beauty. Sheltered from nature's whims, this orchestration of natural beauty becomes a captivating and sophisticated spectacle.

Coastal Views.

There are few more uplifting experiences than watching the sun rise and set over Albert Park Lake and Port Philip Bay. The essence of water, its meditative calm, is captured in Coastal Scheme finishes that owe their origins to the beauty of bay views that stretch forever to the horizon.

Artist's Impression.

The Botanic Scheme.

The green vista of parklands within a breath of BLVD informs the Botanic Scheme whose deeper, richer palette presents a tableau of sophisticated elegance. Strongly veined grey marble plays back to timber joinery and whites with a hint of grey green, inspired by the colour of the Australian landscape.

To gaze upon a canopy of green is a rare urban luxury in a city in which buildings command space. Kennedy Park, Queen Victoria Gardens, Alexandra Gardens and the Royal Botanic Gardens form a tapestry of green, woven together for your viewing pleasure.

Botanical Views.

In the mosaic of green parklands there is a sense of tranquillity and longevity that has been translated into the material and colour palette of the Botanic Scheme. The nurturing hand of nature can be seen in the selection of timber and natural stone that has been millenia in the making.

The Canopy Lofts bring a New York state of mind to the metropolitan mecca of Melbourne Square. A way to set your own pace in the fast lane and do it with flair.

An Elevated Lifestyle.

The selection of 1, 2 and 3 bedroom dual-level Canopy Lofts offer a living experience akin to city terrace living. Most with their own private balcony for enjoying sultry summer nights, the diverse range of layouts makes the Lofts an appealing and sophisticated lifestyle choice that delivers the best of house and apartment living. Intelligently designed to protect privacy at all levels, these light-filled homes come with character and options to personalise further.
