LEFT – Murrumbeena Wine Bar

Stepping off the train at Murrumbeena Station onto Neerim Road, Murrumbeena unfolds as a pleasant revelation. A village atmosphere just moments from the city. Murrumbeena Place will become its cornerstone: a home base to gather, retreat, and move freely through life. Perfectly positioned by the train line, it connects you to wherever you need to be in minutes.

Architecturally designed by Fieldwork with vision by MAKE, the building balances form and feeling. Walkways and arcades guide movement and connection, giving it a heartbeat that is breathing, inviting, and collaborative. The design tells a story, anchored in its context, encouraging the growth of the neighbourhood.

Murrumbeena Place rethinks urban living within a village setting, where community grows naturally and freedom of choice defines each day. Here, connection and convenience meet possibility.

This is life, in your direction.

MURRUMBEENA

Murrumbeena, just 12 kilometres south-east of Melbourne's CBD, is a suburb with an established charm that's quietly evolving. It's a connected, residential neighbourhood with a growing sense of energy.

Living at Murrumbeena Place puts the best of the suburb and beyond on your doorstep. The train is just moments away, connecting you directly to the city, St Kilda Road and Parkville, with Monash University's two campuses and the Monash Technology Precinct within easy reach. Around the corner, Chadstone Shopping Centre offers world-class retail, dining and entertainment, while local cafés and shops provide everyday convenience.

With a new wave of living complementing its classic streets, Murrumbeena is emerging as a place where city practicality meets suburban character. Connected, considered, and alive with opportunity.

Here, your commute time is reclaimed, the streets feel familiar, and your neighbours are people, not strangers.

Artist impression

In the centre of Murrumbeena Village, just steps from the station, Murrumbeena Place translates the rhythms of everyday neighbourhood life into contemporary architecture. Columns and canopies define facades inspired by traditional shopfronts, with subtle shifts in height and tone. Their palette of muted reds, greens and metal draws warmth from local surroundings.

Two residential lobbies, home to a total of 144 apartments, form smaller communities within the larger development through dedicated entries and circulation paths. Passive design principles shape the layout, ensuring comfort across all seasons. External breezeways replace internal corridors, creating openness, encouraging neighbourly connection and letting light and air flow freely.

When you arrive at Murrumbeena Place, you're greeted by a protected oak that anchors a shaded pocket plaza, where benches and dappled light create a welcoming public space. Open arcades lead to cafés, shops and restaurants and sheltered green spaces while connecting residents to the convenience of reaching the city in 5 steps by train.

YOUR EXTENDED LIVING SPACES

Wellness space - Artist impression

Integrated throughout Murrumbeena Place, shared indoor and outdoor spaces extend home life, supporting connection and wellbeing. Shared spaces for leisure, exercise and focus provide balance and variety, enhanced by native landscaping that carries the precinct's green character through the building, softening sightlines and filtering sound.

WELLNESS SPACE

Wellness facilities include yoga and Pilates rooms, fitness studios, and a sauna and cold plunge. Designed for flexibility, the spaces can host private training sessions or be connected to your favourite digital platform for a workout at your own pace.

DOG WASH & WORKSHOP

Family- and pet-friendly amenities include areas for open recreation and play, a dedicated dog wash, and a workshop for messy jobs.

YOUR HOME

Each dual-aspect apartment benefits from natural ventilation and abundant daylight, optimised by expansive windows. Across a selection of configurations and sizes, floor plans follow an intuitive flow between rooms for living, dining and rest. Interiors reflect the building's exterior in materiality and tone, balancing everyday utility with a clean, honest design ethos.

Natural, enduring materials add texture and depth. Warm timber is complemented by soft eucalypt tones sourced from the neighbourhood palette to create a calm, cohesive atmosphere.

Fieldwork have carefully selected materials that ensure longevity with minimal upkeep, while walls finished in non-toxic paints and mould-resistant coatings support a healthy living environment.

Integrated storage enhances both utility and spaciousness, and thoughtful elements such as a joinery bench, key drop station and pendant lighting enrich daily routines.

Equipped with premium appliances and fixtures, kitchens and bathrooms are available in several configurations.

At Murrumbeena Place, sustainable design translates into everyday comfort and wellbeing.

Homes are naturally cooler in summer and warmer in winter thanks to thoughtful passive design, while fresh air and natural light flow easily throughout living spaces. Rooftop solar, rainwater harvesting and lush landscaping make it easier to live lightly, while bicycle storage and the opportunity for electric vehicle charging keep you connected in healthier, more sustainable ways.

Every detail has been considered to create a community that feels good to live in, today and for the future.

- 01 Rooftop PV array generates onsite renewable electrical supply to offset base building energy use
- 02 Windows opening onto breezeway allows for crossflow ventilation
- 03 Exposed concrete soffit provides thermal mass which helps to regulate internal temperature
- 04 Provision of backbone infrastructure allows for future connection for electric vehicle charging (at owners' expense)
- 05 Generous bicycle storage
- 06 Rainwater harvesting collected from roof surfaces to be used for toilet flushing
- 07 High angle summer shaded by eaves
- 08 Depth of eaves designed to allow winter sun into living spaces for passive heating
- 09 Low VOC materials used throughout
- 10 Double glazing for thermal performance
- 11 100% electrical development, with no gas

Murrumbeena Place brings together MAKE, Mala, and Fieldwork, a team united by thoughtful, context-driven design. Their work translates urban complexity into spaces that feel coherent and connected. Every decision, from form to flow, responds to the neighbourhood, creating a village-like environment that is purposeful and subtly transformative. Together, they form a partnership defined by vision, care, and dedication to place.
